1. Claims 1-11 and 23-25 are presented for examination.
2. Applicant is requested to fill blank spaces in the specification (e.g., par. 25).
3. The abstract of the disclosure is expected to be amended in the event of amendment to the claims, so as to reflect the inventive feature of the claimed invention to distinguish over the prior art. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

4. Claims 1-11 and 23-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Baker, U.S. Patent No. 5,996,032, cited in the previous office action.

Baker teaches the read-modify-write operation in the background section as claimed and described in the present application. The specification also indicates that a single 64-bit register can comprise 64 one-bit registers (par. 24, line 3).

5. Claims 1-11 and 23-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Song et al, U.S. Patent No. 5,991,531, cited in the previous office action.

Song et al teaches the invention as set forth in the previous office action incorporated herein by reference.

6. The rejections are respectfully maintained with additional evidentiary support that a register can comprise a plurality of registers.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Swanberg et al taught a method of using a 64-bit predicate register as 64 single bit registers (col. 2, line 48).

Art Unit: 2111

Fujii et al (5,437,043) taught a method of using a vector register comprising a plurality of scalar registers (col. 2, line 48).

8. Applicant's arguments filed November 5, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that the references do not teach reading and writing a plurality of registers simultaneously (as one register as disclosed in the specification).

Examiner believes that reading and writing a register comprising a plurality of registers, thus simultaneously accessing a plurality of registers, is well known in the art

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
